

SEARCHES

Can a police officer search me or my possessions without a warrant?

YES, but only in certain circumstances. Police must have a "reasonable suspicion" that searching you will turn up evidence that you violated a school rule or law. An officer may search you without reasonable suspicion if there's an emergency or if you agree to the search. Outside of school, police need a warrant signed by a judge.

Do I have the right to refuse if an officer asks to search me or my possessions?

Officers may ask you for permission to search. You can say, "I DO NOT CONSENT TO THIS SEARCH." You cannot be punished for refusing to allow a search.

Can a police officer search my locker?

YES. In Nevada, lockers are considered school property, so schools may search lockers at any time. But, schools must provide students with notice that routine searches are to be expected.

Can I complain about the behavior of the officer?
YES. You can make a complaint if the officer physically assaults you, curses at you, touches you inappropriately or makes inappropriate comments, makes negative comments about your race, religion, gender, accent, national origin or sexual orientation, or acts inappropriately in other ways. You can make complaints to the school principal and school district superintendent and to law enforcement, such as the local police or the sheriff.

Remember the officer's badge number and name and write down everything that happened as soon as you can.

Write down the names and phone numbers of witnesses.

COMPLAINTS

QUESTIONING

Can a police officer question me in school?

If an officer suspects you of a crime, he or she has to advise you of your right to remain silent before questioning you.

Do police officers have to tell my parents?

In Nevada, parent MUST be notified as soon as possible when their children interact with police. This can happen before, during, or after questioning or a search, depending on the circumstances. In most cases, parents must be notified before an arrest.

Do I have the right to remain silent?

YES. It is your choice whether or not to speak to an officer. If you choose to speak, keep in mind that your words can be used against you. If you don't want to talk to an officer, you should first ask, "AM I FREE TO LEAVE?" If the officer says you are free to leave, you should go. If the officer says you are not free to leave, you should say "I WANT TO REMAIN SILENT AND I WANT TO SPEAK TO A LAWYER." You should not speak to an officer until after you speak to a lawyer.

YES, but only if the officer has probable cause to believe that you committed a crime. Probable cause means the officer knows facts (not a rumor or guess) that make more likely than not you committed a crime. If you are arrested, ask for a lawyer RIGHT AWAY. Do not speak or answer questions until you can talk to a lawyer. Do not resist or fight the officer, ask for the officer's name and badge number.

Can I be handcuffed or physically restrained by a police officer in school?
YES, but only under certain conditions. A student can be handcuffed or restrained if he or she is under arrest, or if it is necessary to stop behavior that poses a risk of serious harm to others or to school property. You shouldn't be handcuffed or restrained as a form of ordinary school discipline.

ARRESTS

ARRESTS

Can I be arrested at school?

YES, but only if the officer has probable cause to believe that you committed a crime. Probable cause means the officer knows facts (not a rumor or guess) that make more likely than not you committed a crime. If you are arrested, ask for a lawyer RIGHT AWAY. Do not speak or answer questions until you can talk to a lawyer. Do not resist or fight the officer. Ask for the officer's name and badge number.

Can I be handcuffed or physically restrained by a police officer in school?

YES, but only under certain conditions. A student can be handcuffed or restrained if he or she is under arrest, or if it is necessary to stop behavior that poses a risk of serious harm to others or to school property. You shouldn't be handcuffed or restrained as a form of ordinary school discipline.

YES, but only if the officer has probable cause to believe that you committed a crime. Probable cause means the officer knows facts (not a rumor or guess) that make more likely than not you committed a crime. If you are arrested, ask for a lawyer RIGHT AWAY. Do not speak or answer questions until you can talk to a lawyer. Do not resist or fight the officer, ask for the officer's name and badge number.

Do I have the right to remain silent?
YES. It is your choice whether or not to speak to an officer. If you choose to speak, keep in mind that your words can be used against you. If you don't want to talk to an officer, you should first ask, "AM I FREE TO LEAVE?" If the officer says you are free to leave, you should go. If the officer says you are not free to leave, you should say "I WANT TO REMAIN SILENT AND I WANT TO SPEAK TO A LAWYER." You shouldn't speak to an officer until after you speak to a lawyer.

QUESTIONING

COMPLAINTS

Can I complain about the behavior of the officer?

YES. You can make a complaint if the officer physically assaults you, curses at you, touches you inappropriately or makes inappropriate comments, makes negative comments about your race, religion, gender, accent, national origin or sexual orientation, or acts inappropriately in other ways. You can make complaints to the school principal and school district superintendent and to law enforcement, such as the local police or the sheriff.

Remember the officer's badge number and name and write down everything that happened as soon as you can.

Write down the names and phone numbers of witnesses.

Can a police officer search me or my possessions without a warrant?
YES, but only in certain circumstances. Police must have a "reasonable suspicion" that searching you will turn up evidence that you violated a school rule or law. An officer may search you without reasonable suspicion if there's an emergency or if you agree to the search. Outside of school, police need a warrant signed by a judge.

Do I have the right to refuse if an officer asks to search me or my possessions?
Officers may ask you for permission to search. You can say, "I DO NOT CONSENT TO THIS SEARCH." You cannot be punished for refusing to allow a search.

Can a police officer search my locker?
YES. In Nevada, lockers are considered school property, so schools may search lockers at any time. But, schools must provide students with notice that routine searches are to be expected.

SEARCHES

Many schools have police officers stationed on campus. Other schools may call police to respond to particular situations. Even though you are in school, you still have rights when interacting with police.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS:
POLICE IN SCHOOLS

PROTECT YOUR RIGHTS
Practice saying these 3 things:

I DO NOT CONSENT
TO THIS SEARCH.

AM I
FREE TO LEAVE?

I WANT TO REMAIN SILENT
AND I WANT TO SPEAK TO A LAWYER.

www.aclunv.org

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS:
POLICE IN SCHOOLS

PROTECT YOUR RIGHTS
Practice saying these 3 things:

AM I
FREE TO LEAVE?

I DO NOT CONSENT
TO THIS SEARCH.

I WANT TO REMAIN SILENT
AND I WANT TO SPEAK TO A LAWYER.

Many schools have police officers stationed on campus. Other schools may call police to respond to particular situations. Even though you are in school, you still have rights when interacting with police.